

Lana Todorovich
President, North America Wholesale
Ralph Lauren

Lana Todorovich was appointed president of the Ralph Lauren North America wholesale business in April 2017. Since then, Todorovich has been responsible for all categories and brands distributed in North America, including men's , women's, children's, accessories, footwear, home and golf. Todorovich first joined Ralph Lauren in March 2016, as president of the women's and accessories business.

From 2012 until she was hired by Ralph Lauren, Todorovich was president of women's apparel at Global Brands Group. In that role, she oversaw portfolios of a number of major brands, including Jones New York, Ellen Tracy and Juicy Couture. She was also responsible for managing collaborations with Narciso Rodriguez, Derek Lam and Elie Tahari, across all functional areas. Prior to joining Global Brands Group, Todorovich was president at Perry Ellis. Before that, she spent eleven years at Warnaco (now PVH Corp.), where she held various senior positions managing several categories for the Calvin Klein business.

Lana Todorovich is the 2009 recipient of the Ellis Island Medal of Honor, awarded to Americans who exemplify outstanding qualities in both their personal and professional lives. In 2017, she was recognized by Delivering Good – Women of Inspiration, honoring women executives for their achievements and philanthropic efforts.
