Dan Milberg is celebrating his 30th year at Milberg Factors, Inc. In October of 2016 he was named the firm’s President. Founded in 1935, as MGM Factors by Dan’s grandfather Ben Milberg, MGM would eventually become Milberg Factors, Inc. Today Milberg Factors, Inc. is one of the largest privately-held factoring / commercial finance companies in The United States.

Dan learned the factoring business from the ground up, starting in the collections department, moving to the credit department and then ultimately to the front office in 1999, where he is today. Today his responsibilities are numerous but his primary responsibility is new business development. Dan has a B.A. from The University of Richmond. He has taken advance accounting from Pace University in New York as well as classes at The New York Institute of Credit. He is on the Board of Big Brothers Big Sisters of New York City.

Additionally, he supports several charitable organizations including the University of Richmond, Children’s Hope Chest, UJA Federation, the Westchester Caddie Scholarship Fund, the Scarsdale Library and Scarsdale Schools Educational Fund. He has a keen interest at his alma mater in working towards solutions to lowering the cost of collegiate education. He lives in Westchester County, NY with his wife Margot, and their two sons. In his spare time, Dan enjoys a variety of athletic interests as well as coaching his son’s youth basketball team.
