

Joe Abruzzo

Head of Commercial Banking, Santander Bank, N.A.

Joe Abruzzo joined Santander as Head of Commercial Banking in June 2020. He oversees all aspects of Commercial Banking – including middle market, mid-corporate, government and not-for-profit banking, asset-based lending, treasury management, risk management, international solutions, and underwriting & portfolio management – with a focus on serving the needs of the bank’s commercial clients by leveraging Santander’s unique domestic and global capabilities and international network.

Prior to joining Santander, Joe served in several key leadership roles at HSBC, including head of the large corporate and mid-market segments in Commercial Banking, and most recently as CEO of HSBC Private Banking Americas and Chairman of the Board for HSBC Private Bank International. He also spent 26 years at JP Morgan Chase in executive positions in both Corporate and Investment Banking and Commercial Banking.

Joe is a graduate of Boston University’s Questrom School of Business and earned an MBA from New York University’s Stern School of Business.

##